SUNDANCE 2024 NFP INSPIRE LOUNGE RECAP

Julia Fox was spotted in a trendy, but yet more subdued outfit while visiting NFP Inspire Lounge but shared she "just likes to wear what makes her feel comfortable." Many talent accepted treatments by the Beverly Hills Rejuvenation Center and were overheard saying, "Heck yeah! Dysport injections in the snow? I'm in!" Jon Gosselin took advantage of getting some smoothing and tightening TLC before he set stage to DJ Media.com x Caspian Agency Impact Lounge party later that night. Phaedra Parks happily laid down for a CellSound treatment and said "It's important to keep my skin tight and smooth being on camera as I do. I usually go to BHRC's Beverly Hills or Las Vegas location, but being here at Sundance saves me a trip. This is the perfect crowd to share this treatment to." Kieran Culkin was eager to try gifted products from BHRC, while Pauly Shore booked a future appointment at their Las Vegas medical spa location, too.

PHAEDRA: While I'm not opposed to people going under the knife, I am going to fight that tooth and nail until I can't. I love machines because there are so many cutting-edge new ones. Beverly Hills Rejuvenation Center has them all! Every machine I've ever used at BHRC has given me remarkable results. It's just certain things at a certain age, like the little fat under your bra strap. Oh my God, no amount of exercising will remove that. They've got a machine there that will take it off instantly. I mean, who could not love that?

Jon Gosselin Reveals He Got Work Done Before DJ Gig at Sundance Film Festival: 'I Looked and Felt My Best'

Jon Gosselin opened up on his decision to undergo a Botox-like procedure and a fat- burning treatment prior to hitting the stage for his DJ gig at Sundance Film Festival.

After being booked for the star-studded event, Gosselin revealed he went to a pop-up of the Beverly Hills Rejuvenation Center, but the father-of-eight said he was "hesitant" at first to try anything new.

Following the treatment, Gosselin said he's become obsessed with looking at himself in the mirror and "taking selfies!"

"So I did it, didn't feel anything. Now I've developed an OCD for looking at myself in the mirror and taking selfies!"

Jon revealed he got another procedure, saying, "Then I did CellSound where they put a metal device, all across my mid area, everywhere I'm fat basically! It was a treatment to break down fat and that took about 45 minutes and I lost a couple of centimeters. They measured me before and after."

"It was kind of like a Stim machine for muscles, so it didn't hurt at all. You need to have a few consecutive treatments to see major results."

"It was pretty much all women getting these treatments done, and I did think, 'What the hell am I doing laying here half naked?!' But I think more and more men are getting this stuff done."

Jon Gosselin revealed that he got Botox injections before he performed a DJ set at Sundance Film Festival.

"I was invited to the Beverly Hills Rejuvenation Center pop-up inside the NFP lounge. They were offering both CellSound, which tightens your skin and gets rid of fat," Jon, 46, said about the cosmetic work he had done before performing at Media.com's Beats & Burgers Bash event at the festival on January 20. "They were also offering Dysport injections, which is like Botox."

Beverly Hills Rejuvenation Center: A Hit Onsite

The Beverly Hills Rejuvenation Center (BHRC), a medical spa and anti-aging haven, offered on-site experiences that garnered immense popularity. Treatments included CellSound Aesthetics® to combat aging signs and target unwanted fat cells, Dysport® injections for fine line and wrinkle smoothing, and wellness services from Zivel: Performance & Recovery and Prime IV.
